The Second International Professional BraVo Music Awards became the most large-scale and successful music ceremony of the year, held at two most prestigious venues of Moscow. It proved Russian capital's status as the cultural center of Eurasian continent. Guests of the ceremony attended two gala concerts featuring famous Russian and world stars.
March 19. The Second Classical BraVo Awards ceremony was held on the legendary Historical stage of the Bolshoi Theatre.
Hosts of the evening – actress, singer and TV-presenter Elena Sever and showman Igor Vernik.
Minister of Culture of the Russian Federation Vladimir Medinsky underlined in his speech, that «... approaches of BraVo Awards Organizing Committee are the most unbiased».

Tribute to Monserrat Caballe was a touching moment – her daughter Monserrat Marti sang on the Historical stage of the Bolshoi Theatre and received a BraVo statuette for her mother’s «Contribution to the World Musical Culture».

The first part of the Classical BraVo Awards Ceremony was highlighted by «Take me to Church» – a performance of an extravagant ballet dancer Sergey Polunin. The second part of the Ceremony became a surprise for all ballet lovers – incredible Svetlana Zakharova made a Russian premiere of «Caravaggio» in duet with Jacopo Tissi. A lyrical song «Nessun Dorma» was performed by Michael Bolton.
Both the audience and the press gasped as Special guests of BraVo Awards appeared at the Bolshoi Theatre. World famous Hollywood actor John Travolta came up on the stage twice – he made a welcome speech and gave a BraVo statuette to the winner in «Soundtrack of the Year» category, Andrey Hramov, the frontman of «Zemlyane» Band (OST «Pilgrim», song «Loneliness», words by poet Mikhail Gutseriev), and also congratulated «World star» Andgela Gheorghiu. Helen Mirren admitted from the stage, that she loved Russian ballet and gave the golden BraVo statuette to Vladislav Lantratov - the leading dancer of the Bolshoi Theatre for «Nureyev» – «Ballet of the Year».
